For slight burns dip the part in cold water; if the skin is destroyed, cover with varnish.

For apoplexy raise the head and body; for fainting lay the person flat.—Syracuse Standard.

WALKING AS A FINE ART.

FOOT NOTES; or Walking as a Fine Art By Alfred Barron. Large 16mo, 330 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

"One of the most charming and fascinating volumes published in the country since the death of Thoreau."—Boston Transcript. "A bit of rural gossip worthy the pen of Ik. Marvel."—N. Y. Evening Post. "Gracefully written and replete with interest."—Golden Age. "A racy and suggestive book, capital reading for a winter evening by the hearth-fire."—Boston Advertiser. 'Bright and sparkling, without any somber lining."—Suffolk Co. Journal. "A uniquely interesting volume."—Boston Times. "A delightful volume; and shows how rich may be the discoveries of an observing and cultivated mind in the common-walks of life, and what a charm a simple and attractive style can throw about them."—Zion's Herald. "All lovers of nature can take it home with full confidence of many hours of delight."—Boston Commonwealth. "Charmingly written."—New Haven Register. "The poetry of pedestrianism. All who delight in outdoor life will find great enjoyment in this book."—Congregationalist. "Descriptions of natural scenes and homely incidents are given with the exquisite tact of true poetry."—Advance. "It is full of nature. It has the smell of pine woods and clover fields in its pages. A reflective person will return to this book again and again to trace up the many interesting vistas of thought which it opens."—Daily Graphic. "These papers have a delicate and delightful flavor which is extremely attractive. Some of them recall Thoreau. But there is really nothing which a fair-minded man can call imitation. And we think Mr. Barron has the superiority, in being less shy of his fellow men."—N. Y. Evening Mail.—"There are some parts of this book of whose charm quotations will give no idea. Such are those chapters which tell of 'The Old Pasture,' 'The Old House,' 'Dirt'—a unique essay—'Back Neighborhoods,' and 'Night-Walking.'"—New Haven Palladium."
